

LEE'S THE ULTIMATE SOLDIER® COMMAND FILE

U.S. NAVY SEAL (JUNGLE OPS)

In a treacherous part of South America, a U.S. diplomat is violently kidnapped by villainous guerillas. Parachuted into the dark, steaming jungles to rescue the kidnapped diplomat are the commando-elite U.S. Navy SEALs!

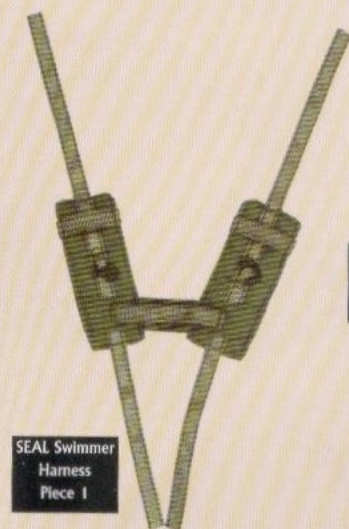

The environment these elite warriors are forced to operate within, the jungle, is one of the most treacherous, even for the snake-eating SEALs. The entire jungle is a teeming threat, from the oven-baked heat, to the soaking wet terrain, to the deadly wildlife. One wrong move and a SEAL could fall prey to heat exhaustion, malaria, yellow fever, or deadly snake, spider or animal bites. Add to these threats the battle-hardened, villainous guerillas who know every square inch of the jungle and it's easy to understand why jungle ops can be the toughest.

To meet the challenge, SEALs are sent to the world's best jungle warfare schools, including the Panamanian Jungle Survival School, the Jungle Warfare School of the Brazilian Army, and the Malaysian Tracking School. Combined with their unit training in the jungles of Thailand, Panama, and Honduras, SEALs are some of the most skilled jungle fighters in the U.S. military.

To be sure, if anyone's capable of getting a kidnapped U.S. diplomat out of the jungle alive, it's the SEALs – masters of jungle ops!
